

Dungeons and DRAGons

Joseph Bates / jwbates@asu.edu

Collins / Vizproto ~Art 494/598 / Digital Culture / Spring 2016

Research Question:

How can I portray today's problems in society using 3-D technology?

Research:

In Greek mythology, Minos was punished for breaking the rules. He was given an unbearable child (Minotaur) that no one wanted to be around. Minotaur was half-man and half-bull, a mix of two species.

In today's society, one issue in circulation is the transgender bathroom acceptance. If a person had a sex change, the switch between bathrooms is a problem. Bathrooms have been installed for people who have a mixed gender identity of the general public. The White House even put a sign on the door saying Gender Neutral Restroom. When will this problem be resolved?

Process:

- Search for found objects
- Learn how to use 3-D scanning tool
- Learn how to use Rhino

Results:

- Found various dolls and action figures
- Scanning successful
- Fused 3-D images together to form aesthetically interesting model
- Printed model in 3-D printer

Conclusion:

Since I am a sculptor, I wanted to create a tangible representation of this modern day issue as represented in a mythological being.

References:

- Dan Collins
- Watching the News
- Reading Greek Mythology